

Final Exam Review Crossword, ENG 2314, Spring 2010

Across:	Down:
1 At the end of her story, Editha "rose from grovelling in shame" at what she had done and "began to live again in the _____."	2 Unlike Heyman, he stands up for Beile when she quits.
4 Dunbar's poem suggests that a _____ is protective, but also that wearing one is painful.	3 She thought she loved Heyman, but she finds herself thinking more of David.
6 Poem about the poet's relationship with the continent his ancestors came from	5 She is Chinese American, not Chinese, but many reviewers seemed to have trouble remembering that.
9 Mark Twain's real surname (last name)	7 The Chinese _____ Act is a key part of the setting of "In the Land of the Free."
11 Dave wants one very badly, but at first he treats it like a toy.	8 The speaker in "_____ for English B" was born in Winston-Salem, but the poet was not.
12 The poet wasn't sure he wanted to write political poetry, so it is ironic this is probably his best-known poem.	9 Sui Sin Far is considered to be the first _____ - American author.

14 Hearing one of these breaking tells Heyman that there is an engagement party on the other side of the door he is about to knock on.

15 The men in "The Open Boat" thought it was too ironic to work this hard only to be _____.

16 Mr. Ryder was once called _____ Taylor.

18 "The Storm" may still shock readers because it depicts _____ which does not destroy lives and marriages.

20 Name of the sharecropper family in "Barn Burning"; they appear in many of Faulkner's stories and novels.

23 Author of The Great Gatsby as well as one of the stories in the unit on American literature from 1914-1960

25 Dave didn't mean to shoot one.

26 Dave leaves on one to go to a place he can be a man.

28 Author of The Waste Land

29 When Sylvy climbs a very tall _____ tree, she can see the ocean.

30 "Middle _____" is a moving poem based on a terrible part of American history, written by a poet who often wrote about historical events.

31 The narrator of "The Yellow Wall-paper" is not supposed to do this, but she does it anyway.

33 None of the men in "The Open Boat" knew what color this was.

34 Many of the works we read, particularly in the earlier part of the semester, are told at least partly in literary _____ rather than in standard English.

35 Where the aunt in "No Name Woman" lived

40 This is the title of the poem that contains the line that Maya Angelou used as the title for the first volume of autobiography.

41 Too many years to work to buy a dead mule!

42 At the end of "The Yellow Wall-Paper," the narrator creeps or _____ right over her husband's unconscious body.

43 "The River-Merchant's Wife" pretends to be one of these.

44 State Zora Neale Hurston grew up in

46 The "Notice" at the beginning of Huckleberry Finn says persons who try to find one of these in the novel will be shot.

48 Weapon Sarty's father uses

50 Instead of being a peace offering after a quarrel, the can of these in "The Storm" becomes the basis of a happy family meal.

10 She has been looking for her husband for 25 years.

13 The book that included "The Goophered Grapevine" was called The _____ Woman

17 Native American author whose work greatly influenced many other Native American writers

19 Considered the first Filipino-American writer

21 Ironically, he was the one man who drowned before getting ashore from "The Open Boat."

22 The narrator of "The Yellow Wallpaper" may be depressed because she has just had a _____.

24 This is the fictional town where Mr. Ryder lives.

27 In "At the 'Cadian Ball" she is defenseless, if "not an immaculate dove," but in "The Storm" she is a married woman.

31 The _____ Land is almost certainly the most influential poem of the 20th century.

32 Number of sections in the chapters of The Way to Rainy Mountain

33 He didn't want to believe that his father was a bad man, but eventually he couldn't help knowing it.

36 The lady artist applies this adjective to Mrs. Gearson's rebuke of Editha.

37 This "Uncle" only superficially resembles Uncle Remus.

38 Sylvy greatly prefers living in the country with her grandmother to living in the _____, even though she is somewhat lonely with only the cow for a "playmate."

39 At the end of "Désirée's Baby," Armand finds a letter to his father written by his _____. In addition, Hom Hing tells his wife there cannot be a law to keep a child from its _____ (same word).

42 Disagreed with Langston Hughes about what an African American poet ought to do

45 The promise of red ones helped to lure a little girl to the mission school.

47 Much of The Way to Rainy Mountain deals with _____ history and traditions.

49 Although fire may be the most likely way for the world to end, this would work too, according to a poem we read. (Or, Eliza jumped from piece to piece of this to cross the Ohio River.)

52 This young woman takes seriously the sentimental ideas about men and women that seem funny in "The Passing of Grandison."

51 Langston Hughes' poem about several of these is one of his most famous works, even though it was also the first poem for adults that he published.

53 This is where Huck Finn decides he will go.

54 Désirée is last seen headed toward one of these, carrying her baby.

55 The narrator-author of Impressions of an Indian Childhood made this on the cold ashes of the fire.

57 What did happen to her?

59 What Sarty's father attacks

61 Wrote poems in free verse, often imitating the sound of jazz or the blues in his work.

63 The real reason Heyman has not proposed marriage is because he is ____, not because he is stingy.

65 Sarty's mother knew how to clean it properly, but she wasn't allowed to do it.

68 Kate Chopin depicts a language and culture strongly influenced by ____ settlement in the lower Mississippi valley.

69 Both Wright and Faulkner write about this section of the U.S., and so does Hurston.

70 Title of a poem about a moth and a spider that raises some of the same questions raised by "Yet Do I Marvel"

72 The kindly New England persona who speaks in his poems may not be much like the poet himself.

74 The narrator of "The Yellow Wall-paper" eventually identifies herself with the ____ behind the paper.

76 Charlie ____ wants custody of his daughter Honoria.

77 Where the nameless aunt in "No Name Woman" eventually goes with her baby.

78 Besides the story we read, he also wrote an autobiography, Black Boy, and a very famous novel, Native Son (as well as other works).

54 The minister who delivers "An Ante-Bellum Sermon" repeatedly says he is talking about the ____, not about "today."

56 Miss Lucy lacks the natural ____ to sing the way Malindy sings.

58 "What is ____ to me: / Copper sun or scarlet sea, / Jungle star or jungle track,"

60 Middle name of two American authors whose work we read

61 Poet whose historical poem about the slave trade illustrates the influence The Waste Land had on later 20th-century poems

62 "In a Station of the ____" is about faces seen in the Paris subway.

64 One of these, a white one, settles on a branch near Sylvy after she climbs the great pine tree.

66 Many American writers, including Fitzgerald, Hemingway, Baldwin, Wright, and others, lived there in the early and middle years of the twentieth century.

67 "Yet do I marvel at this curious thing, / To make a ____ black, and bid him sing."

71 In "A Sweat-Shop Romance," the employee called "the finisher ____" is paid much less than the male employees.

73 It's falling in "Stopping by Woods."

75 Twyla and Roberta called the older girls the ____ girls.